Continenence Foundation of Australia

Become a Catheterisation Skills Workshop Facilitator

Are you a Registered Nurse (RN) with skills in catheterisation?

The Continenence Foundation of Australia is launching a new 'Catheterisation Skills Workshop' and is seeking RNs with skills in catheterisation to become professional development facilitators for the program.

Catheterisation Skills Workshop Facilitator

The opportunity

This role is an excellent opportunity for RNs looking to expand their skill set and gain experience in an educational role.

As a workshop facilitator you will be responsible for providing students with face-to-face skills training in male and female indwelling catheters and suprapubic catheters.

Successful candidates will be provided with a free, short facilitation learning module to help develop their facilitation skills and the Foundation will supply all workshop materials including mannequins, catheter kits and teaching notes. Facilitators will also be paid for workshop delivery time (2 hours) and set up time (1 hour).

About you

Given the focus of the 'Catheterisation Skills Workshop' applicants will need to have contemporary practice skills in catheterisation.

Any professional development delivery experience will also be welcome.

Registered nurses from across Australia (including rural areas) are encouraged to apply.

How to apply

If you enjoy teaching others and are interested in this opportunity please submit your CV detailing your catheterisation experience and any professional development delivery skills to:

b.robinson@continence.org.au

Applications will be reviewed on an ongoing basis. An online interview will be conducted with short-listed applicants.
